Southeast News.

A speed fiend driving a Ford car collided with a horse down at Caruthersville a few days ago.

Malden Merit.

Martin L. Jones, aged about 72 years, recently died at his home in Poplar Bluff from injuries received by being hit by a train near the Frisco depot in that city. For a number of years Mr. Jones resided at Asherville, a point in Stoddard county. His remains were taken to Advance for interment.

Malden Merit.

A. J. Ladd of near Cooter, Pemiscot county, has in his possession a dinner kettle over 200 years old. It was used on an old fashioned pot back more than 100 years. Mr. Ladd's grandmother brought the kettle with her from Germany and kept it until her death. She lived to be 111 years old.

Perry County Republican.

Last Sunday Louis Schaaf, son of Walter Schaaf, died at his home in St. Marys. The following day after giving birth to triplets, the mother and two of the infants died but the other little one is getting along nicely. The sight of the four dead in one home is indeed sad. The influenza has taken hold of St. Marys with a vengeance, over 75 cases being reported.

Dunklin Democrat.

The smallest registrant on the rolls of Dunklin county draft records is Lonnie Paul, 20-year-old son of S. P. Paul, of Malden. He appeared for examination Thursday morning. When he entered the office of the local board in his father's arms, he was easily mistaken for a three or four year old child. This registrant measured 36 inches in height and weighed 40 pounds. He is in perfect health and has a perfectly formed body, but he seems not to have grown any since he was four years old. Like his body, his mind is also undeveloped.

New Madrid Record.

Lee Buesching, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm Buesching, aged 15 years, came to his death Wednesday afternoon when he was dragged by a frightened mule for several miles. The boy had started out hunting, walking, and overtaking a boy friend with two mules, asked to let him ride one of them. He mounted the mule, which had the gears on it, and while going along the road started to load his gun. This frightened the mule, which threw Lee off on the ground catching his feet in the gears. The frightened mule ran from near the Will Riley farm to the Newbauer place, several miles where he was stopped by Ned Riley. When the mule was stopped and Lee released from the gears it was found that he was dead.

SHEEP AND DOGS

The food administrator of Arkansas has been puzzled by the failure of his efforts to increase sheep production, so he asked for figures. His request took the form of a census of the sheep and goats and of the dogs. The results were amazing. Forty-one counties reported more dogs than sheep and thirteen report more sheep than dogs. The totals were 128,105 sheep and goats, and 238,307 dogs.

On the basis of these figures, the food administrator is drafting a bill for the next legislature to place a heavy tax on dogs. In the meantime he is asking for additional figures from the counties on the damage done during the last year by dogs in the killing of livestock. He now is of the opinion that these figures will be strong enough to warrant him putting in this bill that all dogs must be confined.—Post-Dispatch, Nov. 3, 1918.

WHEN YOU HAVE THE "FLU."

Undoubtedly the poet on the Chicago Tribune had recently recovered from an attack of Spanish influenza, when he so accurately described the symptoms in the following verse, says an exchange:

When your back is broke and your eyes are blurred,
And your shin bones knock and your tongue is furled,
And your nose squeak and your hair gets dry,
And you're doggone sure that you're going to die,
But you're sneered you won't and afraid you will,
Just drag to bed and have your chill,
And pray the lord to see you thru,
For you've got the Flu, boy,
You've got the Flu.

When your toes curl up and your belt goes flat,
And you're twice as mean as a Thomas cat,
And life is a long and dismal curse,
And your food all tastes like a hard boiled horse;

When your lattice aches and your head's a-burn,
And nothing as it ever was,
Here are my sad regrets to you—
You've got the Flu, boy,
You've got the Flu.

What is it like, this Spanish Flu?
Ask me brother, for I've been thru
It is by Misery out of Despair;
It pulls your teeth and curls your hair,
It thins your blood and brays your bones,
And fills your craw with moans and groans,

And sometimes, maybe, you get well—
Some call it Flu—I call it hell.

THE MELTING-POT

From Leslie's Weekly.

Owing to the scarcity of meat in Holland, dogs bring high prices at the butcher shops.

American casualties in the war lately totaled 56,876, including 10,572 killed in action.

In Berlin many women formerly wealthy and moving in high social circles are now compelled to earn their living as street car conductors.

A retired broker, a millionaire eighty-six years old, of Greenwich, Conn., recently married a twenty-five-year-old woman after a short courtship. She lived with him only one day and then deserted him.

Not long ago the navy ordered 2,000,000,000 yards of cotton gauze for surgical purposes, enough to reach from Washington to the battle-front in France and back, seventeen times, or lap the earth more than four times.

In the battle of St. Mihiel, France, more Americans fought side by side than in any other battle in our history, and more men were engaged on both sides than in any other battle in which an American army under an American general had ever fought.

Chinese silk workers receiving eleven cents a day lately demanded an increase to twelve cents to meet the higher cost of living. This slight advance would mean a large aggregate, and would tend to enhance the cost of silk shirts, dresses, etc., in the United States.

General Pershing, in a general order, urged clean living on the part of our soldiers in France, as "the plain duty of every member of the American Expeditionary Forces, both for the vigorous conduct of the war and the clean health of the American people after the war."

More than one hundred actors stranded in Omaha as the result of closing theaters because of influenza, had free meals served to them by Omaha Elks. They stated that they had had but two or three weeks' work since spring. Three of them went to work in a packing plant.

Maximilian Harden, the famous German editor, says: "We started this war with a dirty trick, and all our subsequent victories have been results of dishonesty. William II is a film hero and Germany a vulgar cinematograph show. We sit today on the ruins of thirty years of Hohenzollern politics."

When a contingent of 2,000 North Carolina negroes left for their embarkation camp, a patriotic white woman collected enough razors to furnish each man with one of these distinctive weapons. The colored soldiers were delighted, but the cautious colonel of the regiment declined to accept the gift for his men.

At a meeting of American toy manufacturers in New York the plan to burn a shipload of German toys was loudly cheered. Meanwhile, there are orphanages and children's homes in the country whose juvenile populations cannot yet appreciate national distinctions, but who could put outlawed toys to excellent use.

President Macaulay of the Packard Motor Car Company says that Colonel Vincent, named in the Hughes aircraft report, resigned a large salary with the company to accept the position of chief engineer of the Liberty Motor for the Government at a salary about one-fifth as much. The Packard company's patents and inventions, upon which it spent several hundreds of thousands of dollars before the declaration of war, he said, were donated to the government for use during the war.

Nurses' Training School At State Hospital No. 4

A training school for nurses is a new feature of State Hospital No. 4. Young women, displaying rare intelligence in caring for and handling patients, are in demand; and to secure and retain such type, the institution must maintain within its own walls a training school for nurses. This school will be a torch bearer in the study of nervous and mentally ill. It will instruct attendants to encourage the timid, comfort the depressed, and contribute to the cheerfulness and contentment of all. It will also give a chance for good and useful occupation for worthy and purposeful young women who have been denied the higher educational advantages and also those who must be entirely self-supporting during the period of training.

The lectures of the medical staff to the class will be the most potent single factor in encouraging and helping young ladies to do their best work for human uplift. We heartily commend the progressive spirit of Dr. J. E. Egan, Superintendent, in establishing this school, the result of which will be a trained and efficient attendant, drill in the duty toward patients.

CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR

Will mean more than ever to thoughtful people, but it will not be a season for extravagance, only worth-while Christmas presents will be given.

For nearly one hundred years The Youth's Companion has been the popular Christmas present. It always has been the best present for a little money, because the paper means so much to the family life and continues to come every week throughout the year.

In these sad days The Youth's Companion is worth more than ever. It costs just the same—32 cents for 12 issues. If the two 32-cent issues can be invested in a family, and then giving The Companion you give only the best.

Don't miss Grace Richmond's great article, "The Flower," 14 chapters, beginning December 12.

The following special offer is made to new subscribers:

1. The Youth's Companion—32 issues at 32c.

2. All the remaining weekly issues of 1918.

3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1919.

All the above for only $2.00, or you may order:

4. McCall's Magazine—12 fashion numbers. All for only $2.50. The two magazines may be sent to separate addresses if desired.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION, Commonwealth Ave. & St. Paul St., Boston, Mass.
